DETAILED OFFICE ACTION

Double Patenting

The non-statutory double patenting rejection, whether of the obviousness-type or non-obviousness-type, is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent. In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); and In re Goodman, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(b) and © may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a non-statutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.78(d).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-2 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-11 of U.S. Patent 6,492,757 (hereafter USP '757) in view of level of ordinary skill of a worker in the art.

Claims 1-11 of USP'757 are similar to claims 1-2 of this application. The only differences are as the following recitation in the claimed invention:

the tail slanting portion of the large-turning conductor segment or the small-turning conductor segment has a swerved portion which bends toward a direction departing from the opposed conductor segment so as to expand a radial clearance between the large-turning conductor segment and the small-turning conductor segment;

Art Unit: 2834

Those skilled in the art would understand that the difference between the present invention and USP'757 is that the claimed invention modifies in shape of the stator coil's tail portion by bending the tail portion to create a swerved portion in order to obtain a large clearance between the large-turning conductor segment and the small-turning conductor segment. Such modification would require only necessary mechanical skills in the art to change size/shaped of a disclosed component. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955) (emphasis added).

Thus, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the USP'757 stator coil end portions of the large-turning conductor segment or the small-turning conductor segment has a swerved portion which bends toward a direction departing from the opposed conductor segment so as to expand a radial clearance between the large-turning conductor segment and the small-turning conductor segment, as in the claimed invention. Doing so would enable large clearance therebetween for enhancing the stator coil structure integrity. Also, a change in size or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955) (emphasis added).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3-4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
